About

As a dedicated young professional with a passion for driving positive change, I possess a unique ability to identify, analyse, and engagingly work on challenging tasks related to societal and environmental challenges. My approach is characterized by an emphasis on open-mindedness, critical thinking, and respect for others. With a strong track record of success in this field, I am confident in my ability to make a meaningful impact in any role.

I am a highly motivated and well-educated professional with a background in Environment Studies, Urban Planning, and International Relations. I graduated from Moscow University in 2021 and have since pursued advanced studies at the University of Stockholm in the Globalization, Environment, and Social Change program. My experiences of volunteering, studying, and working in an international setting have provided me with a broad perspective and strong analytical and interpersonal skills, and I am eager to bring my knowledge and expertise to a dynamic professional setting.

BRATISLAVA, SLOVAKIA

Junior Consulting Project Manager Internship

Assisted a Polish client in identifying and evaluating sustainable investment opportunities in the Slovak republic, utilizing extensive market research for project planning and development.

Contributed to the design, writing, and editing of official company handouts, ensuring effective communication and representation of the company's offerings.

Enhanced the company's sector-specific and regional analysis for the Slovak market, providing valuable insights for strategic decision making.

SEP 2020 - DEC 2020

EUROPEAN PARLIAMENT

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM

Internship at International Trade and Foreign Committee

Despite the difficult situation caused by the COVID-19 pandemic I did my internship with the extensive experience with legislative process, dynamic work, and ever-changing political environment in European Parliament

I was able to contribute, but especially to expand my knowledge in socio-economic and environmental issues that perfectly matched my interests

Within my role, I held the responsibility of crafting compelling summaries derived from both meetings and hearings. These summaries were meticulously constructed to capture the essence of key discussions and outcomes with a high degree of precision, ensuring that the most relevant information was effectively conveyed

Projects

Unicef Project

I actively contributed to the Emergency Lessons campaign, which aimed to raise awareness and understanding of the importance of education for children affected by emergencies amongst young Europeans. I took initiative to promote this cause in my school, communities, and on social media.

Design Thinking Project

I had experience with creating sustainable solutions to real-world challenges, specifically in the Stockholm area but also with global relevance. I used a human-centered approach, utilizing the needs and perspectives of real individuals to drive the development process. My work has focused on addressing challenges in sustainable urban development, healthcare, education, and addressing the needs of an aging population through OpenLab.
